City Profiles

Cedar City, UT

Situated in scenic southwestern Utah, Cedar City beckons to outdoor enthusiasts with its mountains for hiking and biking, lakes and streams for kayaking and breathtaking canyons for exploring in nearby national parks.

Panama City/Panama City Beach, FL

Panama City Beach is known for its emerald green water and 27 miles of white-sand beaches, but there's more to Bay County in Florida's panhandle. Panama City, Lynn Haven and other communities add diverse amenities, all in an enjoyable climate.

Huntsville, AL

With mountains, woods and the Tennessee River at its doorstep, Huntsville has abundant outdoor recreation, along with Southern charm and hospitality. Also known as "Rocket City," Huntsville has been a major contributor to technology, space, and defense industries since the 1950s.

Oahu, HI

As if living in a tropical paradise weren't enough, retirees in Oahu have access to premier medical facilities, continuing-education opportunities, cultural events and outstanding restaurants and shops. Choose the island lifestyle that suits you — urban, suburban or small town.

Features

New Urbanism/Traditional Neighborhood Developments

Retirees are seeking walkable communities, and these fill the bill, with homes close to shops, restaurants, town services, parks, recreation and perhaps even offices. Reminiscent of everyone's beloved childhood small town, they're intimate and neighborly.

Low-Tax Towns

Retire without the burden of high taxes in these cities across the country, from Portsmouth, NH, to Vero Beach, FL, and Abingdon, VA, to Port Townsend, WA.
